Tsada is a relatively big village 8 km North of Paphos city center. Tsada lies next to a transportation hub linking most of Paphos district's villages. It is next to the current route from Paphos to Polis, and to the main route towards traditional villages like Kallepia and Choulou. There is a bus connection to both Paphos and the Polis – Lachi area on a daily basis.

GROUNDWORKS: General excavation and back filling with hardcore or gravel.

FOUNDATIONS: Reinforced concrete raft foundation according to the structural plans.

MAIN STRUCTURE: Earthquake resistant reinforced concrete frame in accordance with local building regulations and the study of the Civil Engineer.

ROOF: Reinforced concrete slab according to the structural plans. The pitched slabs will be first waterproofed and then 4cm of insulation will be applied prior to covering with clay roof tiles. The flat slabs will have an overlay of insulating foam concrete, laid to fall into rain water outlets and then waterproofed.
